

Maximize ROI from Your Expense Management Solutions

Tangoe Advisory Services - Consulting:
Assessments, Best Practices, and Implementation Support

Constant change, from workforce additions and attrition to new technologies and supplier contract updates, must be accounted for in expense management activities. Companies easily add 20% or more to their technology costs when they don't have sound expense management strategies and best practices in place.

Organizations that successfully manage technology expenses conduct regular assessments to identify potential gaps and areas to expand where new expenses have been introduced to the organization through IT or the Lines of Business (LOBs). But most companies don't have the expertise required to do so in-house and in real time.

The Tangoe Advisory Services (TAS) Consulting solution delivers the expertise IT and finance teams need to assess expense management strategies, develop long-term solutions, integrate additional expense management categories, advise on best practices, and support implementation initiatives.

Core Tactics

The TAS Consulting Solutions extends a company's current expense management solutions and processes to manage and optimize new expenses introduced to the organization including cloud infrastructure and subscription-based services.

Tangoe experts assess the solutions and processes in place to identify gaps and drive additional value by putting best practices into place.

Key Challenges

- Implementation of expense management strategies
- Developing strategies to manage additional expenses categories such as cloud infrastructure and licenses
- Securing resources and support for strategy implementation
- Achieving maximum benefits and ROI from current expense management initiatives

Benefits

- Implementation support for current expense management initiatives
- Assessment of the current state of performance of present expense management solutions and processes
- Development of long-term solution to further the success of expense management solutions

Account for and Optimize New Technology Expenses

New technologies in the workplace bring additional expenses along with them, which can quickly spiral out of control if IT and finance don't have the proper checks and balances in place.

With the TAS Consulting solution, companies can appropriately process, validate, optimize and allocate these additional expenses, reduce associated costs, and alleviate burdens on already stressed internal resources.

The TAS Consulting team also assists enterprises in realizing maximum ROI by advising on best practices for expense management processes and ensuring rapid solution implementation.
